Rockville Hospital Behavioral Health Unit

A presentation of Altro's suite of products leads to installation in a suite of behavioral health services.

Rockville Hospital, part of the Eastern Connecticut Healthcare Network, boasts a strong behavioral health unit that provides support and specialized, sophisticated services for many areas of mental health, including additions, anxiety, depression and other counseling.

Moser Pilon Nelson Architects worked with the hospital, selecting Altro Aquarius and Altro Whiterock for use throughout the unit.

For the bathrooms and other wet areas, the award-winning Altro Aquarius was specified for the floors. Altro Aquarius is fit for both bare feet and shoes, providing excellent slip resistance in an areas where slipping and falling is a major concern.

Joining Altro Aquarius, are Altro Whiterock hygienic wall panels on the walls and the Altro Whiterock Recessed Shelf as a convenient, yet secure, place to place toiletries while bathing. Altro Whiterock's hygienic nature prevents water and moisture ingress, and its durable impact-resistance ensures a sledgehammer strike won't even crack its panels. Other walls can break upon heavy impact, resulting in punctures and holes that can house unwanted bacterial tenants.

Rockville also utilized the Altro Whiterock Recessed Shelf. This product's welded seal makes it tamper-resistant and incapable of being weaponized for aggressive behavior or self-harm. This fixture also possesses durability similar to that of Altro Whiterock, allowing it to endure heavy impact without cracking or splintering.

With the increasing efforts to combat healthcare acquired infections in hospitals around the country, impact-resistant and hygienic wall products are essential.

The project had originally called for competitor products, but Altro Regional Representative Carol Polyviou met with Jeff Lawton and Rockville Hospital housekeeping staff and presented Altro flooring, showing the proper cleaning regimen. The hospital was sold, and staff members continue to be happy with their installation.
