Angel Square, North London

The Office Group's unique office design with a wow factor

"The resin trays set new rules for the space, and create a new architecture within, without being precious of the building's features."

Angel Square, North London

The Office Group's unique office design with a wow factor

Issue

2 Angel Square is a 1980s' post-modern office building used as a shared workspace. Designers wanted to create bold colours and shapes inspired by the Memphis Movement and using a 'terrazzo' theme throughout the space.

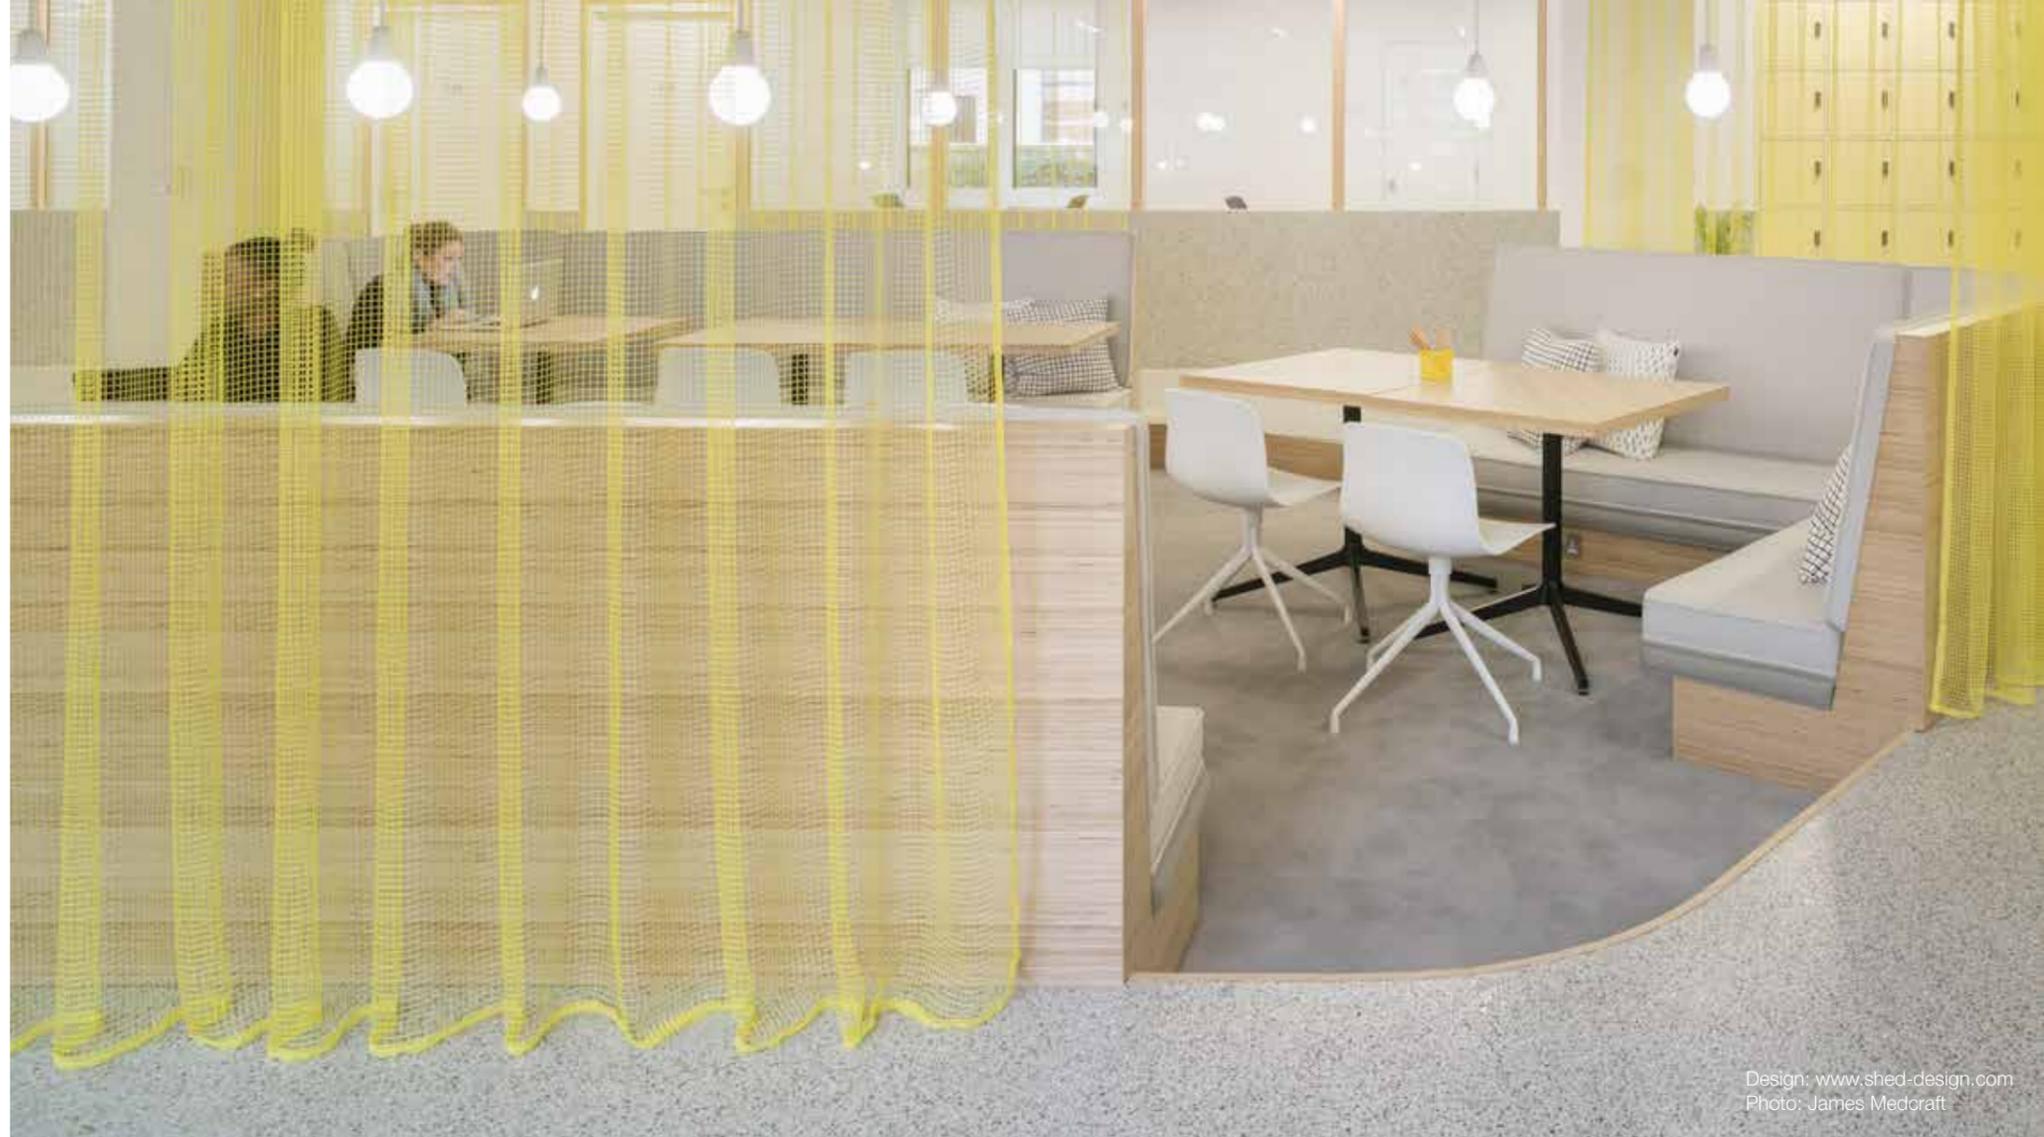

Approach

Designers were looking for an impressive flooring product that would work in harmony with the post-modern design of the building. Resin was selected as being high impact and functional and in keeping with the progressive spirit of The Office Group.

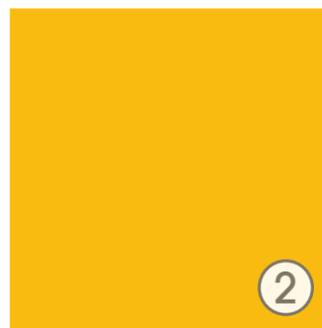

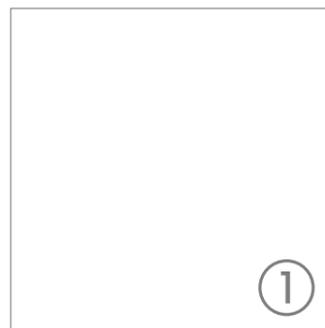

Solution

Altro Mosaic was selected as it offered a versatile, durable and highly decorative solution. Bespoke colours were used to fit in with the office design scheme. Altro Mosaic was used on both floors and walls, creating a unique design for the front of house area and giving a flexible and customised solution.

Altro XpressLay was also used in the office and selected for its ease of installation, cost effectiveness and sustainability credentials.

Looks great with:

1. Altro Whiterock White™
2. Altro Whiterock Satins™
3. Altro Whiterock™ wall designs

Altro Mosaic epoxy resin is available in systems that encapsulate decorative acrylic flakes to give different finishes: matt or gloss. Choose from a range of 15 different designs for a decorative multi-layer finish that can be applied to walls and floors and looks great as an accent for feature areas.

Altro XpressLay utilises a unique formulation for a quick fit without compromising on performance or durability. Altro's revolutionary technology, featuring a studded surface on the underside of the floor, allows it to lie flat and perform like a traditionally adhered floor without the need for an adhesive.
