Recent refurbishments required the sourcing of various safety flooring solutions that would provide exceptional quality and aesthetics for the many different applications throughout their facilities.

As leading innovators of the safety flooring industry Altro were able to provide a range of functional slip resistant flooring options for the various requirements of the Ryman project.

Ryman Healthcare can rest assured knowing that they now have a beautiful, calming interior for patients, residents and staff, for many years to come.

One of Australasia's leading providers of retirement living, Ryman Healthcare was established in 1984. Ryman draws on 30 years of experience to provide the best possible retirement living options for its residents.

Altro's slip resistant range of vinyls were used to create an optimum environment of safety, comfort and wellbeing throughout different areas of the facility.

As Altro products are not just designed to function well together, they're designed to complement each other as well.

Altro Safety Flooring was used throughout the kitchens, laundries, serving areas, living areas and ensuites, creating a complete solution that provides optimum safety while remaining aesthetically pleasing for all residents and staff.
